Their Opponents by Carrying Out the Platform Promises.

A Long List of Nominations Sent to the Senate-Some Strange Orders Issued.

FULFILLING THEIR PROMISES.

A Strange Spectacle to the Republicans

Special to the Sentinel. Washington, March 25 .- The movements of Democratic Secretaries appear to perplex and enrage the Republicans. Ante-election promises of reform and retrenchment are as common as party platforms. The Republicans are great hands at making such promises, but they never fulfill them. The old fits their case exactly. Hence their perplexity at finding the Democratic administration faithfully carrying out the reforms promised at Chicago. The reduction of the clerical force at the Executive Mansion, and the dismissal of large numbers of superfluous inspectors, examiners, and so on, by the Tressury and Postoffice Departments, strikes them unfavorably. It is a significant commentary on their own methods so plain that | partially dressed. The company lose they can not fail to see its force. In short, the Republicans are anxiously inquiring as to the whereabouts of the "hungry and thirsty Democrats" of whom they have heard so much. That they are not and have not been here is certain. It disgusts the Republicans. They hoped to see the Democrats break their necks at the first hurdle.

Washington, March 25 .- Nearly everybody except Representative Bynum and Vice President Hendricks expressed surprise to-day at the failure of the President to nominate a Postmaster at Indianapolis. These gentlemen know it is a matter of much doubt whether the question will be settled very soon. Bynum reiterated to night that he was confident Creelman would be appointed, Several telegrams were received to-day by Mr. Hendricks from business men in Indianapolis entering a protest against the appointment of Creelman; they say Creelman has no interest in Indianapolis and should not have the position. A number of these indorse Jones. It is believed that the President, though inclined with the Postmaster General to favor Creelman for Bynum's sake, would like to see a new man chosen. An Opinion Furnished by Attorney General Garland-Matters of Interest Generally.

WASHINGTON, March 25 .- Attorney General Garland has furnished an opinion to the Secretary of the Treasury, in which he holds that salted meats which are exported with the benefit of a drawback of duties on foreign salt used in curing the meats, are entitled to be reimported duty free upon the refunding of the drawback. This opinion applies particularly to the case of the Anglo-American Pork Packing Company, of Chicago, which recently exported a large upon which they received a drawback. The meat not finding a ready market abroad was reimported, and under the decision made by Secretary McCulloch the company was required to pay duty on both meat and salt as foreign goods.

BUFFALO, March 25 .- This evening, as an above the stage, a drop fly took fire from a defective burner. In an instant the whole stage was in flames, and six minutes later the entire building was burning. The McCaul Opera Company were dressing preparatory to the production of "Folka," and had barely time to escape, some only Queen's Lace Handkerchief," and the company had most of their trunks brought to the building, and these were consumed also. An hour later the St. Louis Roman Cath olic Church, at the rear of Music Hall took fire, and it was soon evident that that magnificent edifice was doomed. The street between Music Hail and the church was very narrow, rendering it impossible for the Fire Department to do effective work. George Smith and Joseph Green ascended ladders in front of the church for the pur pose of assisting the firemen in directing the work. The building burned rapidly and the firemen and Smith hastily left the roof, they had reached, but some reason Green remained and frantically rushed to the cupola, climbing it in full view of thousands of spectators. He clambered to the lightndne rod, but returned and rushed to the body of the roof, which was now burning fiercely He rushed to the corner of the building, and heedless of the cries of the firemen, who had a tarpaulin stretched for him to jump into, made for the tower, and from it hung by his hands for fully ten minutes. An attempt was made to reach him with a ladder, but it was unsuccessful, owing to the net-work of telegraph wires surrounding the building.

A Fatal Fractical Joke-A Boy Badly Injured by a Revolver.

Special to the Sentinel. MUNCIE, Ind., March 25 .- Last night William Haynes and Olney Scott went to Bishop Scott's hen-house to play a joke on him by catching his chickens, thinking to get Scott to run after them.

Scott had heard of it and arranged to turn the joke on them, and when they came he fired a pistol, as he thought, in the air, but the load took effect in the back of Haynes' head, and he died in a few hours.

Scott is now in jail here, but is almost in-sane with grief, as they were all good friends, and he had no idea of committing such a deed.

At New Corner two sons of W. W. Brown, aged eleven and seven, were at play in an old out building. The little tellow screamed and fell back as if dead and the blood gushed from the ugly wound made by the wicked ball which had entered his left eye and lost itself in the bones of the skull.
